DESCRIPTION: Join CBIC President Elaine Larson and CBIC Executive Director, Jessica Dangles for a webinar on 2023 updates. This will include an overview of CBIC’s examination offerings, infection prevention units, the new certification in long term care infection prevention, and how CBIC is striving to expand accessibility to certification for professionals responsible for infection prevention across settings.

PRESENTERS:

Elaine Larson, RN, PhD, CIC | 2023 CBIC President

Elaine Larson is Professor Emerita, School of Nursing and Mailman School of Public Health, Department of Epidemiology, Columbia University. She is a former Dean, Georgetown University School of Nursing and a Fellow in the National Academy of Medicine, Society for Healthcare Epidemiologists of America, Association of Professionals in Infection Control and Epidemiology, American Academy of Nursing, and the Infectious Diseases Society of America. Dr. Larson was the Chair of CDC’s Hospital Infection Control Advisory Committee (HICPAC) and currently chairs two institutional review boards—for Columbia University and the New York Academy of Medicine. She was Editor of the American Journal of Infection Control for 25 years (1995-2020), has published more than 400 journal articles, four books and a number of book chapters in the areas of infection prevention, epidemiology, and clinical research, and has served as a consultant in infection control and nursing in international settings. Currently Dr. Larson currently serves on the President's Advisory Committee to Combat Antibiotic Resistance and as the President of CBIC.

Jessica Dangles, MBA, MS | CBIC Executive Director

Jessica Dangles, MBA, MS is the Executive Director with the Certification Board of Infection Control and Epidemiology (CBIC). She has held various roles within credentialing, accreditation, and licensure over the last ten years within healthcare associations.
