An Introduction to IPAC Canada

Founded in 1976, IPAC Canada is a multidisciplinary organization for health professionals and others involved in the prevention and control of infections across the continuum of care.

IPAC Canada provides representation, communication and education for those involved in infection prevention and control activities. Membership within our organization gives Infection Prevention and Control Professionals networking support and communication opportunities at provincial, national and international levels.

Over 1,500 members strong, IPAC Canada's mandate includes Infection Prevention and Control in acute care, long term care, prehospital care, community and public health settings, as well as the community at large.

IPAC Canada provides expert information to outside agencies, at all levels. There are many opportunities to learn and share valuable information: conference education, distance education, and webinars; special interest groups and external committees; IPAC Chat, and Members Area of the website; employment postings; and 19 chapters across Canada offering regular meetings, education and discussion of timely topics.

Whether you are a novice and just beginning your career in Infection Prevention and Control, or are an experienced professional, you will gain invaluable information from our annual National Education Conference, from the quarterly Canadian Journal of Infection Control, from our web site (www.ipac-canada.org) and from your peers.
